

Elluminati

An Elluminate Community of Users

Where bright ideas meet

Are you an Elluminate enthusiast? Whether you are an advanced user or just starting out, our Elluminati online user community has something for everyone. It's a place for those who are passionate about live eLearning and online collaboration to connect, communicate, and collaborate with their peers.

For the seasoned user, share your experience and expertise. For the novice, learn how to leverage Elluminate technology most effectively for your organization. Stay current with new trends and techniques, meet and interact with other users, exchange ideas, develop best practices, expand knowledge, and much more.

Join the crowd

With hundreds of members, our Elluminate community is made up of teachers, instructional designers, administrators, professional trainers, IT staff, and others from academic institutions, corporations, nonprofit organizations, and government agencies around the globe. As part of the Elluminati, you can participate in monthly online meetings, log in to our online community site to access a variety of resources, and even share ideas for new product enhancements and help with product testing.

Live online sessions

Held on a regular basis, our online, interactive Elluminati meetings provide opportunities for networking with other users and feature presentations and panel discussions filled with practical information and real-world applications. And every informative and interactive session is recorded and archived for easy playback at your convenience.

Annual conferences

Our annual Elluminate User Conferences for K-12 and higher education are your opportunity to get together with your fellow Elluminati to meet online and learn about how Elluminate Live! is being used to add real-time interaction to distance learning, expand the traditional classroom, provide faculty and staff professional development, and so much more.

Now on LearnCentral™

We encourage you and all the Elluminate users in your organization—moderators, participants, IT staff, and administrators—to join the Elluminati community, now hosted on LearnCentral, the new social learning network for education, sponsored by Elluminate. Add your voice. Share your story. Explore new opportunities for live eLearning and web collaboration. Visit www.learncentral.org today.

Why join?

- Meet and interact with other Elluminate users
- Participate in online meetings and annual conferences
- Share experiences and exchange ideas
- Stay on top of new trends and techniques
- Develop and discuss best practices
- Get the most from your Elluminate technology investment

What Elluminati members are saying

"I find the monthly webinars I join really informative and useful. The live meetings also give me an opportunity to hear and 'meet' other members of the community and have helped to develop other partnerships and friendships."

Val Brooks, Deputy Director, Stockton City Learning Centre

"The value of the Elluminati community is that of any learning community. Many minds contribute to a larger movement, and each of us becomes the better for the contribution of our peers."

R. J. Clougherty, Jr., PhD, Tennessee Tech University

"There are so many exciting ways to use online technology to enhance teaching and learning. The Elluminati community is a great way to share ideas and experiences with Elluminate Live! users around the world."

Ian Smissen, Deakin University

Add your voice to the Elluminate user community.
Join the Elluminati today!

Go to www.learncentral.org and select Browse Groups.

